It is officially stated that President Roosevelt will not come to Portsmouth to be present at the signing of the treaty.

No arrangements looking to a joint farewell visit to President Roosevelt have been made, or even suggested.

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Council Reorganizes and Re-elects Messrs. J. S. Wakefield and J. D. Reams.

WELCOME FOR DR. BALDY

Arranging for the Coming Carnival—German Picnic to Be Held.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch.

The Council met last night for reorganization in the city chamber. Mr. J. D. Reams was appointed to the chair in the absence of the chairman, who was feeling unwell. Mr. Wakefield, who has held the position so long and so honorably, was unanimously re-elected president, and Mr. Reams, who has in like manner worthily filled his position, was re-elected vice-president. On being invited to address the assembly on his re-election, Mr. Wakefield made a most happy response, saying that during all the time he has held his position, he has tried to fill his duties with care, and that if any mistake had been made it had come from the head and not from the heart, and that as it had been in the past, so it would be in the future his ambition to fill the presidency fairly and honorably and to the best of his ability. Mr. Reams was then called on for a speech, but declined on the grounds that he does not pose as an orator. He said, however, that the sentiments as expressed by Mr. Wakefield were the utterances of his own heart, and that he, too, would do all in his power to fill his position with credit to himself and honor to the body of which he is a member.

In a few days Mr. Wakefield will announce the committees, in which he said there will be some change made.

Will Be Accorded Welcome.

Rev. E. V. Baldy, D. D., returned Friday morning from his trip to England and the continent. Mr. Baldy will fill his pulpit as usual on Monday morning, and at night he will be accorded a welcome by his congregation, all of whom are heartily glad to see their worthy pastor back among his flock. A committee of the congregation met last night to formulate a scheme for the occasion, but made no suggestion for publication. Enough is known, however, for it to be stated that they will be eminently worthy of the event, and that the welcome will be made in a most hearty and befitting manner.

Mr. Baldy starts a most interesting account of his trip across the seas. While abroad he visited Paris, Belgium, Switzerland, England and Scotland. With the enthusiasm of a tourist and the graphic accounts of a raconteur, he gives a most interesting description of his travels.

He was much impressed with the London crowd, his history, noble in its architectural beauty and achievements, and still notable as the greatest and most widely influential city of the world.

Mr. Baldy will get touch on his travels in his sermon to-morrow, but will reserve the account of his tour and his impressions for the future.

He will give the account in some manner yet to be decided upon. It may take the form of a series of lectures with views. However, the plan will be decided later.
